

---

Subject: PBS- Les Paul

Posted by JeffH on Thu, 12 Jul 2007 05:25:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

t my dynamics under control and my kick is causing me the >largest problem. My goal is a crest factor of 14 for my overall mix and >right now it's more like 20. When I use various compressers / limiters >eqs etc to control the dynamics it is killing the low freq thump. Does >anyone >have tips on how to control this wild kick drum without hosing up the tone?
>/
>
>ThanksGood choice.. I use the 500 Seagates..

"DJ&quot

---

---

Subject: Re: PBS- Les Paul

Posted by [dc\[3\]](#) on Thu, 12 Jul 2007 05:44:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

; <animix _ at _ animas _ dot _ net> wrote:

>I need a new audio drive and was thingking about this:

>
> <http://www.newegg.com/Product/Product.aspx?Item=N82E16822148134>

>
>Can Win XP handle 750GB?

>
>Thanks,

>
>Deej

>
>Hey.. Has anyone else tried ou these plugins? <http://antress.myweb.hinet.net/>

See my post reply on my findings.. Would like your opinions..hey are free , give them a try...ThanksVery cool indeed..Espesial like the image option. No more guess as to who really sanged or playe

---

---

Subject: Re: PBS- Les Paul

Posted by Graham Duncan on Thu, 12 Jul 2007 15:27:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

r />

> Mike R. wrote:

> > Man, I'm so used to Paris that I've not really had to wrap my head > > around this direct monitoring thing. I've been trying all morning to > > find some sort of explanation that made sense. The RME site has some > > info, but how the heck does a piece of software, on top of a piece of > > software LOWER the latency (Total Mix "on top of" Cubase for example)??

> > Is the best way to think about it to conceptualize Total Mix as > > functioning like an external mix board: a pre-recorded track from Cubase > > is routed to an input on the mix board and the signal to be r

---