Unfortunately, currently the electric fence zap comes as a seperate upgrade.

I was blown away by a heard of jerseys in the round paddock. Place your herd a little off centre, and just tweak the moo length to taste. Having heard the sound, I'm amazed more farms don't have round paddocks. ;o)

Sounds like you're already on the right track.

If the guitar is an electric/acoustic, I like to record the output of the onboard electronics to its own track. Sometimes, blending this with the mics can really fill out the sound without the need for a lot of EQ. And, if you don't like it you can easily toss it away.

Happy tracking!
