I'd love to synchronize my midi hardware to paris.

But Paris only sends out MTC.

How could i convert MTC to MC (midi clock) ?

Thx,

Dennis You are right Sarah, that's because he doesn't have ulterior motives, he's not after power or money. And he's a uniter not a divider. It's a shame so many sheep are out there and listen to the "news" instead of finding the real news. It really goes to show how far we still have to go.

For example: I tell my wife to go on the internet and research something like disability insurance and she has no idea how to do it. Some people have just never learned how to fish for themselves and its so important that people learn real skills but its easier to let the government take care of us but as we all know THEY CAN'T !Hey all,

I've been trying to help out a frie pcnd whose using Cubase SE on a Mac (iBook G4, osx 10.4.10 1ghz power pc, 640mb of ram). On playback, after recording only one track, the track has clicks and pops about every six to seven seconds.

Buffers were set at: 4 buffers each at 128kb. She tried different mics as well as different cables -still pops and crackles. She's using a Maudio Fast track interface -latest drivers. This interface is USB.

Any ideas?

Thanks guys (and gal).

MRWell, I'd hate to think that just one track would cause buffer issues, but just to eliminate that as a possibility you should try setting your buffers to progressively higher settings & see if it goes away at some stage.

Thanks

RobThanks everyone.

I was talking up this group and encouraging my friend to start checking it out. I tried out the buffer suggestion and that seemed to fix the problem -though I agree with Neil's thought: it sure seems funny that they were appearing with only one track. I've noticed that her setup is flukey -so we'll see. For now she'll probably stick with the iBook -though she did go for a (evil) melodyne purchase. I'm hoping that once she starts flying along recording, mixing, she'll consider a 'puter upgrade. You gents are awesome, thanks again.

If you get a chance, check it out. I engineered it top to bottom, and also did the mastering. The artist is Tonya Watts, from Alabama. The guy who sang on the record with her, and is also walking along side her in the video, is Waylon Payne, who is the actor that played Jerry Lee Lewis in "Walk The Line". He's also the son of Sammi Smith, that had the hit on "Help Me Make It Through The Night" back in '71.

Very nice work Chris. I watched it all the way through and it held my attention. Good song, good musicianship, good production/mix/mastering. Too bad that chick is so ugly.

;oDYes, vary good work!

P.S.

Boy I sure miss Nashville summer NAMM shows.

;oD.....I have two old iBooks, a 1GHz and a 600MHz. They are not real fast, but I have not had any problems running my M-Audio USB interfaces. Keep in mind, the USB is version 1.x. I'm not running Cubase, so...YMMV.

>I checked out one of those Behringer Pedals, and they sound 'Better' than Roland-Boss pedals. Hands down.

Note: I've been playing the guitar for over 30 years now and I've owned pretty every boss pedal thru the years. My point:

Boss pedals we're not that good then. And you purchased them when you could not afford a MRX or Elect-Harmonix pedal unit.

Boss prices are outlandish!! Even more, so is this new so-called boutique fx pedal market. $200-300 hundred for a distortion box.. Pleaseee!!

This whole boutique/vintage market BS that's being perpetrated on the pro-audio world is just that BS. The fact that some of us buy this stuff and Feel like a king when we make such ridiculous purchases. 5K-7K for a Mic that sound wise can be had today for around $500.00 bucks.

I think this whole boutique /Vinatge market push being pushed by the old-guard engineers that does not want to let go of:

- Work flow methods
- Sound of recordings

Let's take sound of recording..Most of the pro-audio market is being held hostage by this old guard and these guys live in a 1960-70's sound quality mind-set. Real innovation and technology has been held hostage by companies trying to accomodate this audien
