First, it placed a fixed visual image in your brain associated with the song. This pretty much made it impossible to have the music only and fit it into some context in your life. Second, it moved the focus to visual content instead of aural content. To quote one of my older songs:

"Images upon the screen

finish our imagining

first we watched the singers dance now we watch the dancers sing"Places to see? I'll start the list with these:

-Red Rocks Amphitheater

-Museum of Nature and Science

-Denver Zoo

And, if you're into skiing, head West from here. Not sure when ski resorts are closing so be sure to double check their web sites.

I don't have any hotel suggestions other than that there are a lot of 'em from fleabags to new downtown highrises. So you can choose your level of luxury or lack thereof. :^) keep your hands and wrists in a constant state of mild inflammation. When that was gone, I played better and stronger. I'm still trying to find the right amount of practice...

DCI actually like machines sounding like machines (Kraftwerk, ENB, Sleng Teng riddim) and humans sounding human (Stevie Wonder, Meters) but that 'I can tell the drummer is playing to a click' sound is torture to me. Much harder on my brain than the 'I can hear this was autotuned sound.' But groove matters more to me than pitch, so there you go.

hehe I am already on that testing route even with the L R outputs of other than card's a mecs...

Regarding the headphone outs the one on mec A which is the main one outputs all submixes, the other though ! output only the related submix out so yes you could route it to another mec but on same mec you would get an infinite loop of dry and compressed... because the time you will bring it back on same mec that will be again outputed on headphones and then back again... you get the picture ,feedback.

The other mecs option though will work !!

I don't know if you have considered the other better option !!

The L and R outputs of each mec (except for the main one) outputs ALSO the submix out so you can take this L and R out and send it to a pair of outputs (digital to Pulsar ??) COMPRESS it and then send it back to another submix.

For latency well you know faderworks ?? !!

Regards,
Dimitrios
