I think some people do all that right within Paris, but I haven't tried that one.

Hope that helps.

d core? Keep in mind the Liquid Mix is pretty crucial to what I do, and in a perfect world I wouldn't have to drop my Creamware card.

Got home after practice last night and audio computer no workee. PS powers up, drives spin, no POST, no video, no beeps. I might be able to get away with a new video card as it's the most likely candidate, but if I have to upgrade now it's not a horrible time to do so.
