It's a Conia MR9100. Some generic brand made in China no doubt. I'd never heard of them until I went to the store.

Seems to work well enough though, and the DVDs it records work fine in any other player I've tried. The only real gripe I have with it is that it makes a little bit of a whistle noise sometimes when playing or recording a DVD.

Of course most players make some kind of noise but this is a little noisier than I'd like, but I imagine that putting it behind the glass of the cabinet will be enough to remove any annoyance. I wa
