chrisl@adkproaudio.com Hey Lamont, how goes it? Yeah, the show at Chene park was pretty awesome.

The flying insect situation, on the other hand is scary. The bugs are really out of control there the way they swarm the stage...especially once it gets dark and the stage lights come on. Having the stage right on the water doesn't help much either.

Last year, the other singer nearly walked off of the stage during the performance as the bugs were attacking us. This year we were spraying "OFF" during the performance and doing another type of choreography..."ducking and dodging" the flying insects.

Other than that, it was a great gig!

Maybe we can hook up on the next go round. Thanks for passing along the package!
