CubaseSX (or Nuendo, of course) can do all this if you go with 2 RME Multiface's. Each Multiface has 8 analog ins & outs, plus 4 or 8 lightpipe channels, depending on your samplerate (up to 48k you can get 8 lightpipe channels, over that, the lightpipe's bandwidth limits it to 4), and 2 SPDIF ins & outs; so really you could get 36 total in's & outs going at once with 2 Multifaces. Or if you need 24 strictly analog i/o's, then 3 Multifaces would be your ticket.

As far as the mix buss goes, I am pretty sure I can hear a difference between Cubase V3 and V1, which I had before... I say "pretty sure" because there's always the chance I'm just convincing myself that there's a difference when there really is not - as I understand it, starting on v2 was when they used the same audio engine as Nuendo (v1 supposedly did NOT have the same audio engine as Nuendo - I've not been able to get a definitive answer on this). Worst-case scenario, run submix stems if you're worried about mix buss overstuffing (one stereo submix each for drums, bass & other low-end stuff, guitars, keys, vocals, and whatever else might be applicable - you could do a separate one for solo instruemnts & ambient tracks, for example); anyway, get yourself

>Hi,

Not only DJ but my humble setup is a crazy one too.

For now I connect like this:

Creamware Pulsar card adat optical out feeding Soundscape SS8IO-2 ADAt/tdif CONVERTER.

Soundscape's wordclock out goes to Mec 1

Creamware Pulsar Adat out feeds another SS8IO-2 which feeds another mec via wordclock.

Soundscape SS8IO-3 (8 AD/DA converter) gets clock from SS8IO-2's TDIF out and same SS8IO-3 send via wordclock clock to 3rd mec.

With me so far ?

Now the fun part.

First SS8IO-2 sends clock to ADI-PRO8 (used for main DA) via their TDIF connction.

1st Mec sends wordclock out to a Behringer ultramizer which reclocks my main AD converter which has no w/c in out.

2nd Mec sends w/c to a DBX 376 preamp and from there to a DBX 386 with daisy chaining

3rd Mec send wordclock to Behringer ADA-8000 8 channel converter.

Pulsar Creamware of course is the master device.

ADAT sync out sends clock to Lexicon core 32 reverb card (thanks DJ)

Now whose wordclock setup is the craziest mine or DJ's ?

Now here is the real question.

If I use a clock generator I will need 8-10 clock outputs to clock everything.

I don't wanna spend more than 600-700 $ for a complete wordclock setup that will be stable and hassle free and soundwise better than Paris clock.

I thought of the HOSA cheap and a distributor.

I thought of having ADI-PRO8 rme as master and buy just a distributor like Drawmer 20 out (!!!) D-clock device whic sells for 700 $ but I am afraid of RME as master.

Anyone to rescue me ?

Regards,

DimitriosOne crazy question.

What bhappens if you use a T connector to split clock output on ,say, a Hosa clock generator which has 4 outs so will get 8 ?

Is this a no-no ?

Regards,

Dimitrios

I think a lot of the people who have trouble with disappearing firewire/USB stuff on Windows don't do their power management correctly. I discovered this when working on getting better stability on laptop audio interfaces and found that driver settings for how the OS manages power to external devices can change how 'sticky' they are. That can cause problems with all kinds of removable devices on, gasp, both Macs and Windows boxes. But hey, I'm not 'pro' anyway.

In better news, the eclipse project has allowed me to dismiss yet one more proprietary application, and the Apache::MP3 perl module lets me get rid of another. I'll really be down to one stinking XP box in my house pretty soon, plus the laptop for live shows. If only there were Live for Debian
