He is going to do head stocks with it. He was doing some EVH style necks and Fender jumped all over him. He does good work, and he can build you what ever you want.

He is on ebay, but you can check out his web site pictures of his work, look at each page.

Interesting that you should ask. there was recently a forum held at a local church here. there were Christians, Jews, Buddhists, Muslims and American Indians. Things were going nicely until a Jew asked the Muslims whether they would renounce the use of non-retaliatory violence against those of other religions. You could have heard a pin drop for about 10 seconds before the Muslim gentleman started scooting around like a crawdad.....and he never gave a straight answer.
