www.microsoft.com/windowsxp/downloads/powertoys/xppowertoys.msp

Win 98/ME I did not find a tool from MS as such, however third party apps exist out there for the google savvy.

In any event a screen that size is very cool, and to effectively have multiples of it for free using software just adds to the value.

'grats on the buy John, you're gonna love the extra real estate.

I too am anxious to hear how he does.
I opted for the 34mm u47 style, I do hope he can get it to fit.
He will also be recapping and adding a cinemag tranny.

I'll keep you posted, it should be another week or so.,

Hey Guys,

I had to do this just to rationalize my latest setup. Thought I'd share just in case anyone's interested.

I REALLY wanted to reduce the clutter on my control desk. I've got 2 Macs and 2 PCs that I use regularly. So, I had four keyboards/mice, 2 C-16s, drum machine, etc. all on my desk. Yuck!

The G4 runs PARIS 3.0 w/2-EDS, 1-MEC, 1-442, and 1-IF/2. G3 runs Performer for MIDI stuff (my latest forte into the unknown), new P4 system runs SoundForge 8 + assorted plugs, NT box is a file server for backup, app storage, etc.

Here's what I came up with. It's cheap and it really works.

The IO Gear boxes let me control all four computers with two kbds/mice (meeses??).

The G4 is connected to all 3 flat panels, sharing the 17" on left with the G3. This is great for PARIS. Mixer in the center. Project, Audio, Transport on left. Editor on the right. PCs share the 21" w/the G4. The 21" has DVI, VGA, S-Video and composite ins so I can switch the monitor between Mac (DVI) and PCs (VGA) from its front panel.

Holy crap! This is really working!!!

Sanity check over. Now, back to work!

Mark
