Mackie, we didn't have any new products this time around, because our new stuff didn't make it out of the Chinese factory and on the boat in time for the show, but we have this dandy press release! Don't worry, we probably have a price increase announcement before the end of the show or something.

We figured we'd rest on our laurels and ride on our name for the rest of the show, and make a big deal out of being in business for 20 years.

I'll buy it just because...but nothing compelling here. You still can't even organize your vst plug ins and I'm betting Media Bay is still confusing

I've got the full 3.2 version and the plugin here. The ability to revoice chords will probably make for some interesting mashups. You know you can output any blob in Melodyne3 to midi, right? You decide that P-Bass ain't working.....just end it to Trilogy and turn it into whatever you want. Looks like Cubase 5 is going to have this same functionality. You can't have an EQ folder, you end up with 2, one for VST3's and one for VST2. I don't think this has been fixed yet either. I hope it has.
