After 6 years with Paris, discovered this one tonight, go figure.

Wonder what else I missed...??

Rob AHello,

I was wondering if support@intdevices is still responding to requests for a response code when you reinstall Paris 3 to a new computer. And if not what do you do?

I reinstalled it to a new computer and I thought that I got at least 2 weeks to use the new system before the code was required but it didn't even offer that option. I'm not able to use the system at all until I enter a response code.

Thanks for any help and info in advance

CarolCan't find it.....again.....;o}Hey guys, as I am reading the posts about your Cubase/Paris sync I am getting emotional and jealous ... It used to be so easy with the old versions ... ;-)

Anyways, I need to make the jump, sell my Dakota/Montana deal, and jump onto this solution.

The questions for you guys:

Is this a confirmed go ??? Has DJ just fiddled around long enough, or are there other confirmed, CONSISTENT success stories?

If so, which one of the 96/52's are you guys using? The old one:
<http://www.rme-audio.com/english/hammer/d9652.htm>

or the new one:
<http://www.rme-audio.com/english/hdsp/hdsp9652.htm>.

If this really works, I just might have to catch a plane and kiss someone
.... don't worry, after this purchase I will be broke anyways ;-)

Thanks a lot guys, I really appreciate you,
TedIt's taking them a while, but a friend just installed v3.0 and they got back to him before the expiration.

Making PARIS freaking fly on Windows XP

This page contains just about everything you'll need to successfully migrate PARIS to XP. You should be aware that PARIS XP drivers were not produced by Intelligent Devices or E-MU. Intelligent Devices and E-MU Do not and will not support problems with XP drivers or software installations running on XP!.

The XP Drivers were written by an insanely talented programming guru type named Chris Thoman. Lot's of other people were involved testing. The drivers are released as DonationWare. It's fairly obvious to me that Chris's primary motivation on this project had nothing to do with money. Since the drivers appear to work flawlessly when installed according to the directions, I would be extremely disappointed if anyone running an XP installation didn't reward Chris for his efforts by making a donation. Face it, his motivation may not have been financial - but there's nothing wrong with showing him that we are all willing to support his efforts with our wallets. 100% of donations go directly to Chris.

The rest of the page contains a lot of scary disclaimers about PARIS under XP. Most of these stem from the fact that the drivers are a third party product. You may also have witnessed months worth of posts about Crash on Exit and be really wary about proceeding, or wonder to yourself if it's worth it to even try. Below are some quotes from PARIS users running on XP. The names have changed to protect the innocent.

Gerry Fallgood, Noshville TN Writes: This is working 100% on my 8 EDS1000, (4)MEC, (4)442, 17 MEC expansion card, multi C-16, word clocked system. As ugly as a Paris setup gets, and this is solid for me. Zero crashes on exit. More stable than Win9x for me so far, testing this new FX setup pack for the last 3 days. In fact, it's so solid that I declare Paris on WinXP as totally ready for prime time. I've just begun working fulltime on XP with 2 Matrox G450 dualheads, 2 UAD-1 cards, removeable Firewire HDs and no problems with ParisXP.

Grog Writes: Thanks Chuck and Chris, I just open and closed paris 4 times and not 1 single crash on exit, I also own all of your plugins from the Mod,EQ, no limit, Peusdo and still no crash on exit. This works everybody, Hurrah

Kim Writes: Thanks Chris and Chuck. Legendary stuff!!

Johnny Writes: CONGRATULATIONS!! CHUCK AND CHRIS!! I have yet to get it going for time reasons, but I have seen AA work with no problems enough to know it is very solid.

Don Johnson Writes: Works flawlessly on my rig. I was not only having COE problems when closing out of a Paris project, Windows would also hang at shutdown and I had to manually shut the computer off. None of these problems now exist after installing the patch. I'd say that the Skunkworks XP package is ready for prime time. Very impressive.....and thanks again for all of your hard work!

Before you follow the actual installation directions below you need to carefully review the next few bullet points and see if you can live with the facts presented:

- * These drivers are BETA! If you encounter problems with these drivers your only recourse is to revert to an older version of windows. We don't recommend betting your business on them (although with the new effects subsystem installer they seem to be working smashingly). If they don't work there is no option other than posting your problem to www.greatidea.com/webnews/.

- * There is NO GUARANTEE that these drivers will work with your system. If they don't work there is no option other than posting your probl

Another option is to gate them keyed to the snare mic...gives a believable snare ambience, but doesn't muddy up the toms and kick.

BUT, you need to be absolutely certain that the grille is the same as the 47 design. Grille resonance is a huge part of the sound of that mic. Those in doubt should check Stephen Paul's writings here:

http://mixguides.com/microphones/vintage_products/audio_vintage_microphones_part/

For capsule, I'd be more interested in a M7 PVC capsule, which Geffel still makes rather than a K47 capsule. For the mic body I would also want something that looks 99% like a U-47, and with little resonance. The connector can be different in the interests of economy/practicality. An accurate mic grille/body can cost alot though...I've found one at www.microhphoneclones.com thats a little over $1K.

Cheers,

Kris
