long and short of it... a client called me earlier in the week and ask me to record the Grosse Pointe South(grosse pointe, michigan) Choirs for a Christmas tribute broadcast that will air this weekend on Armed Forces Radio.

the choirs are absolutely amazing, plus we had a blue star mom read a poem (I believe it was called "soldiers watch"). it is a little uncertain as to whether they are going to use the entire hour sequentially, or split up and use songs between shows. either way, it was a pretty cool to be involved in a project that is going to give a little comfort from home to our troops all around the world.

doesn't matter which side of the fence you are on when it comes to our involvement in various areas... I believe most of wish they were home for Christmas, but hopefully this stuff at least brings a smile to a few faces.

I will have it up on a web site for streaming later tonight. we are also selling copies as a fund raiser for the GPS Choir's trip to Spain this coming spring. email me if you are interested in one.OK, I just got it in tonight & was just playing with it a bit, and my initial impressions are confined to four simple words...

Oh. My. Fucking. GAWD. !!!

Holy shit, no kidding - I have NEVER heard anything like this. This might be one of those "magic box" kinds of things, like the Bedini B.A.S.E., but even better in the digiworld, perhaps.

I need to play with it some more, but holy shit, I am very impressed from the initial toying about with it. I don't even notice any high-end veiling, which I was really worried about considering the 15k rolloff - it's a very gentle treatment way up there, apparently. Either it's not doing much in that range, or it's doing something quite pleasing that doesn't bother me one bit - at least so far.

Hi Mike,

Is it PC only?

Thanks!

-----=_NextPart_000_00C3_01C84358.5FEB2C50--1. Turn on the XP firewall. Not great but gets the job done.

2. For downloads of software updates and such use firefox. Update it as requested.
3. If you need to surf/email from your audio machine do it in a VM. IMHO I'd suggest Debian Etch or the current Ubuntu, but that's just because I know the package manager well. If SuSE is your trip then good on you.
4. Don't install any specific anti-virus software, because you won't need it.

Last time I hit up DOS was on Windows 3.1, creating some batch files for various stuff. Does it still exist? lol

NeilHi Gantt,

Unfortunately, for now, it is only for the PC. As soon as Chuck can send the development Mac, I'll compile them for OS 9.

This is definitely something I'm determined to do.

All the best,

Mike

I think the next plug will be a mono-band version of this so that one could use fewer DSP resources if it's just one band than needs to be tamed.

Any thoughts on what would be most useful to you after that?

Thanks again!

;o)Merry Christmas from sunny SoCal.

We wish you all the best of Christmas blessings.

My good friend had to sit in the hospital last night while his wife has emergency gall bladder removal...

She's just fine, and so are we. Life is good.

DCThat sounds wonderful, Gene! Have a great 08!

>Thanks Sarah. I'm listening as I write this. Your arrangements go right to it: one of the great things about xmas songs is that the melodies are so strong that they can be orchestrated in so many different and wonderful ways. A pleasure to listen to your music. Reminds me of my Atari days -which were also happening in '88. I've still got my 1040, wrapped in plastic and safely in storage. I'm taking it with me to the fifth world.

The same to all y'all from here in Northwest Indiana. This group has been , is, and will continue to be, one big extended family. I love this place.

Yes, they are. However, I do get tired of every artist releasing an album of the same tired old chestnuts over and over and over again.
If I hear "Jingle Bell Rock" one more time, I'm going to hurt someone badly.

However, my new favorites are "The Meaning of Christmas" and "A Song of Christmas" by Lowen & Navarro, and "Sharing Christmas" and "A Distant Trumpet" by The Ides of March.

I love it when artists write really good, fresh, new Christmas songs.

I do! Very nice instrumentation!

What synths did you use?

They are pretty cool. Takes a while to find your balance, and you'd be amazed at how sensitive they are to movement.

Oh, wait.

That's not the segway you were talking about. I think you meant "segue".

Correct. A DP machine will be a waste, unless you can get one for the same price. OS9 won't use the DP's natively, and Paris certainly won't.

You need to make sure the G4 will boot into OS9 natively, NOT in Classic. If it won't boot into 9 on its own, then it's useless to you.

There is one MDD model that's the last one they made with 9.2 booting ability -- that's the fastest Mac you can use.

Thanks DJ, I needed thatVery nice -- at least all that I heard until your server overloaded.

I didn't know you had those other old things online as well.

You have lots of very nice stuff. Even more than I knew...

believe that the Firewire 800 models are no good for this, only the FW400
MoBo will boot with 9.2.2 and run PARIS successfully. Cheers, Colin S.
