I can't and don't see why Apple just won;t Pull the trigger and release OS-X for any PC ..Give us an alternative without having to re-purchase a PC/Mac..

Limited hardware support I think. Still even if they were fussy with hardware...
a new video card is cheaper than a whole new machine.

Cheers,
Kim.I'm doing that at the moment..runing OS X 10.4.9 on my PC, (Intel Core 2 Duo E6600 2gb ram Nvidia 6600 video with a dedecated HD).
I was given the install to try out and after a couple of attempts it works..I don't have dual monitors or the internet yet, but the rest is all there. Bleeding edge stuff, although it's amazing how many people are doing it.
There are websites galore on the subject.
Now before you go flaming me, it was an experement...nothing sinister intended, I just had to try it, but it works complete with all the apple animation etc.

. Average Person can you imagine the first one you'll meet
9. Hey Hey love this instrumental
10. Tug Of Peace ok, so not that great
11. Through Our Love another very nice ballad

FYI, I'm also a huge WHO fan and I think the latest Who album is total junk.
Go figure.Maybe post the question to the cubase forum ?Hi All

Could someone point me to where I can download it or send it to me

thanks

DOnfound it

---=_linux466f3436--A guy I know has (or had) one of the earlier ones. His opinion was basically: "they're OK, but they don't have much headroom". He didn't say it sounded bad or anything like that.

So, depends on what you need, I guess.

I'm on tech support here. Favourite call for this morning...

"I can't access websites because of a security problem"

"Really? How do you know?"

"I can only access trusted sites. It says at the bottom of IE"

"Oh. OK. I'll log in and check your security settings"

I log in and reset the security to a working default.

"OK. Could you test it now?"

I watch as she types in [website].com.au. The Microsoft search page comes up indicating the page wasn't found.

"Have you tried typing the full url including the www?"

"Does that make a difference?"

"I can. Let me try it"

www.[website].com.au

Site comes up.

Hmm...

Cheers,

-----=_NextPart_000_0042_01C7AEB9.8133B1E0--Well, while no two strats sound identical, two strats built with basically the same build (wood, pickups, roughly the same weight) are going to sound very, very alike. Certainly more alike than they will to any Les Paul.

I'm not knocking technology or new gear, not in the least. I'm just surprised that _other_ people are using such modern guitar gear as the PARIS community seems, um, how do I say this, more on the traditional side than most.

I've thought about a Variax, actually, but not so much for the different sounds but so I can store tunings.

A good LP and a hardtail strat would be the minimum.
