ite a bit of third party development. The iPhone looks pretty slick out of the gate. Only time will tell if the iPhone will be a success. I have to say for the average guy the price is steep IMO, but not for someone with all the needs. Again, it should be noted, the iPhone is PC compatible.

Well I'm not sure what you mean about the Plays for sure thing being better than iTunes, but if your in to MS DRM, cool!

One thing I'll point out about Windows Media Player, is that they have copied the itunes interface, Aqua theme/look, even the Itunes logo with the aqua musical note and the CD. It's all hard to not notice MS's blatant rip off of Apple design and innovation, just look at Vista. They been at it for years.

Sounds like more hype, just from a source you like. And it's fine if you like them.

"Technology" seems an exaggerated term in this case. Copying mp3s files to a player is not a big deal.

Is that how WMP is wayyy better? :^)

I could copy mp3s to any player from a Mac. It's not locked into iTunes playlists.

All of these companies are trying to create an ecosystem to pull you in. Apple has been the most successful at it by making iTunes seamless with their iPods, but that doesn't mean the others aren't trying. More power to everybody, the more competition the better. Maybe someday someone will make a portable player that is compelling enough for me to get one...

>I have never entered into any computer platform discussion pro or con in this newsgroup. I have my own preferences having worked on both, but I'm not pushing my views on anyone else, except over beers at the local pub with friends who are ready, willing and able. (As an aside, they are 1. Always vehement, and 2. Without any actual real world experience on one of the platforms in question).

I have to say that I am amazed by the venom that spews whenever someone points to something Mac. It seems irrational to me. As if Steve Jobs personally injured some on this group. Why do we worry so much about things we have no control over? If someone points out a new plug, or a new amp, or instrument, things usually don't get personal. The recent donnybrook over Politics, Religion and War is regrettable but not surprising. But somebody pointing to a new product from a computer co and getting sarcasm, disgust, resentment and mockery just makes no sense.

I have a close engineer friend at RIM who's been there for 15 years (at least). RIM's office is an hour West of me. I know that there is much disappointment that the cooperative plans for an "AppleBerry" did not materialize.

bought my copy of XP Pro at a Mac reseller for $150...

-----=_NextPart_000_00FF_01C735DD.A55341D0--You say that I said Macs crash..well.they do...and it happened today.

We were setting up a tech run for a new 10 week series I'm starting to shoot, (record location audio), and set up a new Macbook loaded with Pro Tools V7.0, (OSX 10.4), I think.

Every time we went to open PT, it crashed requiring a reboot...who knows why...probably version conflicts...dunno.

I use Macs on a fairly regular basis, and if you could see my PC desktop, you would see Rocket Dock displayed prominently at the bottom ala
Mac....(btw, I do own a Mac, just don't use it very often.)
