into high end networking I think, and become a network architect for someone like CISCO or NORTEL - they get stupid money. And it is artistic - you design and see the future of the business client and stroke the brush on how they'll expand and use it. The art is today's design with the future in mind.

Some insights: everything is going to be about networks in the future where business is concerned. Video Security, visual entertainment, audio/audio control, data, phones, fire alarms, smoke detectors, remote users.... it's all network capable these days. With the advances in storage, CPU power and 10Gbit network speeds here today, it will only get bigger and the cool thing is that the fiber in the ground is still good as speeds push upwards for some time. IMO that means switches/fiber equipment is gonna be the demand, and labor on how to design it/implement it.

OS and computer type are a fading memory, it's all gonna be about (wired and wireless) internet/intranet. Believe me on this. Take that CLWMC or GC gig if you need to but study at night. If it's about networking, learn the 7 OSI layers, understand the IP / Subnet mask relationship, learn the ins and outs for secured network structure especially in the wireless field.

I made the jump about 15 years ago and then stayed in it (Tech) when I was thinking about bailing a few years back (thank God for the medical insurance when the medical bills piled up on my son the following year).

Went from being a frontline geek to a Director of Technology to now havine a consuting practice for small business and technology. Along the way I've been able to hire a half dozen of my musicians friends who are still in the tech industry and play some on weekends. It doesn't meet our original dreams of playing for a living, our skills sometimes really wane, but when we play, it's play! And any one of us makes more than we all did with our dead end jobs and gigs combined.

FROM ABBOTT

ABBOTT: Super Duper computer store. Can I help you?

COSTELLO: Thanks. I'm setting up an office in my den and I'm thinking about buying a computer.

ABBOTT: Mac?

COSTELLO: No, the name's Lou.

ABBOTT: Your computer?

COSTELLO: I don't own a computer. I want to buy one.

ABBOTT : Mac?

COSTELLO: I told you, my name's Lou.

ABBOTT: What about Windows?

COSTELLO: Why? Will it get stuffy in here?

ABBOTT: Do you want a computer with Windows?

COSTELLO: I don't know. What will I see when I look at the windows?

ABBOTT: Wallpaper.

COSTELLO: Never mind the windows. I need a computer and software.

ABBOTT: Software for Windows?

COSTELLO: No. On the computer! I need something I can use to write proposals, track expenses and run my business. What do you have?

ABBOTT: Office.

COSTELLO: Yeah, for my office. Can you recommend anything?

ABBOTT: I just did.

COSTELLO: You just did what?

ABBOTT: Recommend something.

COSTELLO: You recommended something?

ABBOTT: Yes.

COSTELLO: For my office?

ABBOTT: Yes

COSTELLO: OK, what did you recommend for my office?

ABBOTT: Office.

COSTELLO: Yes, for my office!

ABBOTT: I recommend Office with Windows.

COSTELLO: I already have an office with windows! OK, let's just say I'm sitting at my computer and I want to type a proposal. What do I need?

ABBOTT: Word.

COSTELLO: What word?

ABBOTT: Word in Office.

COSTELLO: The only word in office is office.

ABBOTT: The Word in Office for Windows.

COSTELLO: Which word in office for windows?

ABBOTT: The Word you get when you click the blue 'W'.

COSTELLO: I'm going to click your blue 'w' if you don't start with some straight answers. What about financial bookkeeping? You have anything I can track my money with?

ABBOTT: Money.

COSTELLO: That's right What do you have?

ABBOTT: Money.

COSTELLO: I need money to track my money?

ABBOTT: It comes bundled with your computer.

COSTELLO: What's bundled with my computer?

ABBOTT: Money.

COSTELLO: Money comes with my computer?

ABBOTT: Yes. No extra charge.

COSTELLO: I get a bundle of money with my computer? How much?

ABBOTT: One copy.

COSTELLO: Isn't it illegal to copy money?

ABBOTT: Microsoft gave us a license to copy Money.

COSTELLO: They can give you a license to copy money?

ABBOTT: Why not? THEY OWN IT!

(A few days later)

ABBOTT: Super Duper computer store. Can I help you?

COSTELLO: How do I turn my computer off?

ABBOTT: Click on 'START'

ROTFL!!! Maybe we could get NAMBLA to sponsor someone?

;o)sorry lamont., I cant prove it either way.(my $100,000. estimate).

I can say that i knew early on that digi was way too much money for the bang.

I couldnt even burn a CD without shelling out $1000 for their burning software(i forget the name of it,but the price im sure of) thank heavens paris came along.sad that it didnt catch on for the long haul.

here is digi's response ,if anyone really cares about this

Hi Alex - Your question is challenging and I appreciate your asking.

Unfortunately there is no way we can possibly answer it. The only exchange we ever had from AM II was to AM III with Pro Tools software with DAE powermix back in 1996 for $995, both products have long since been discontinued. Since then there have been multiple exchanges with multiple options so there is no telling what direction you might have gone. Ultimately you probably would have spent more in the long run upgrading along the way but you would have recouped much if not all of the value of your purchase in using your system as the Technology progressed over the past 14 years. We do not distribute legacy pricelists but for a current exchange price list please see

I hope that helps!
