the demos don't do the acoustic guitars justice. I don't know what they did when they recorded those demos but the acoustics sound better than that.

-----=_NextPart_000_003B_01C860DC.648A0E60--I saw some folks here like the reggae. I have some tunes posted at the site all done here in Paris, that may interest you. One mix, Dry Conch and Grits appeared on Globe Trekker. These guys are from the Turks and Caicos and record here in Wisconsin...long story...but when they asked me to go to the horse barn and get a rip saw I realized I was in deep engineering waters. Tracked the saw with a pair of QTC 1's on a Jecklin disk so as the player moved about so does the image...very strange. (Salt Cay) These tunes are up for test purposes and will be removed in the next week or so. Synth horns, real Hammond and back vox. Enjoy.

www.extrafishrec.comHi guys and gals. Any of you out there in Paris land using a virtual based or computer based orchestral sampler, GigaStudio 3 Orchestra, Garritan Personal Orchestra or IK Multimedia Miroslav Philharmonik in particular? I want to upgrade my older Gigasampler computer and want to dedicate a new computer solely for orchestral and other samples. I want to interface this with Paris. I'm thinking that the most powerful way to run the sampler is on
