Actually I need 2.

thx, bAnyone using a wireless keyboard and Mouse with their PARIS comp? Is there any things to consider when attempting this?

Like interference of any kind etc...?

Any suggestions on manufactures?

thx,

BThe logitech and microsoft keyboard/mice combos work great. Just mount the receiver directly under the table and have spare batteries around for when they die in 8 months and you're in a middle of a session.

Also, whatever you use for the foam, remeber there will b a lot of dust building up over time, so use something that will not trap it or hold it.

The keyboard is split into two seperate pads. Both wireless.
The numberpad is it's own wireless transmitter and can also double as an independent calculator.

I just bought some 24"X96"x1" foam from Walmart.
It is just a long sheet of foam that you can cut to desired size. It is much like a mattress pad cover that you see.
It's not quite as heavy duty, but should do the trick for what you want.
It was only approx. $12 for 24"X96"x1".
It's over by the fabrics department.

enjoy the weirdness.....

I've been working in radio going on 15 years now (wow..time is flying) and I still get a little creeped out whenever I hear a jingle I wrote...
or a voiceover....

interesting side note....

neither my kids, my wife, my parents... or pretty much anybody I know recognizes my voice when I am on the air... makes me giggle...

just recently we were heading downtown to a festival and I was monitoring one of our stations... a spot that I did was n the air and I said "wow... listen to this moron"...

my oldest says to me "who is it dad... why is he a moron? "

I kept quiet... and about 20 seconds later she realized it was me... was pretty funny.

may this be the first in a long line for ya DJ!

One thing to be clear on is that Jesus never said anything about nations loving their enemies, only individuals. He also never defined loving your enemies as letting them murder your family, nor turning the other cheek as giving the rapist the other daughter.

Despite all that, you are right. It is likely that we will have to stop supporting any government at some point and concentrate on our mission. Maybe that point has come, but I am not ready to cede the west to the jihadis as long as I believe our government to be trustworthy. I am not sure they are not trustworthy yet.
